Evolution as Applied to Coal.
The late Professor Darwin's theory regarding the development of a protoplasm, applied to coal, would be a very reasonable theory; for the submerged forests of the carboniferous age gradually developed into lignite; that into an inferior quality of anthracite, and that into the finest and best Silver Run Egg and Stermyn stove found only at

STATE NEWS.

Androscoggin.

While the young son of Mrs. Reed, of Lowell, Mass., who is visiting in Lewiston, was swinging, a day or two ago, with another boy of about the same age, and at the time had an open pen-knife in his hand, the swing gave way, throwing them to the ground. The young Reed boy struck on his face and on the point of the pen-knife blade, driving it into his body. A physician was called and the wound was dressed. On examination, the knife-blade was found to have penetrated quite deeply, and fears were entertained that the wound would prove fatal. The boy's father was telegraphed for immediately, but on his arrival the boy appeared much better, and hopes are now entertained of his recovery. He is about eight years of age.

Aroostook.

G. H. Jerrald, who was recently tried before Trial Justice Plummer, at Wytopitlock, on charge of perjury in the case in which the Perrys and Martin Brackett were convicted of robbing the store of Dennis Mullen at Sherman Mills, and now serving sentence at the State Prison, for want of bonds was committed to Houlton jail. Jerrald is undoubtedly insane, and since his commitment to jail is very noisy and demonstrative at times requiring constant oversight of the keeper.

During the thunder storm on Wednesday evening of last week, a cyclone struck the two story barn on John Watson's place, in Littleton, completely demolishing it. Four horses were killed and one was badly injured. Mr. Watson's son, a young man who was in the barn taking care of the horses when the storm came up, was buried in the ruins. His escape from instant death was almost miraculous. He was considerably hurt and bruised. Mr. Watson lost two single wagons, mowing machine, horse rake, and all his agricultural implements which were stored in the barn. They were completely broken up and destroyed. His total loss is about $1000.

Caribou has an excellent water power with a fall of seventeen feet and less than two miles away and the Republican advocates the utilization of this power by the erection of a woolen mill and a furniture factory.

A large number of citizens assembled in J. D. Teague's potato field, at Caribou, Monday afternoon, says the Republican, to witness the working of the McKenzie potato digger, the U. S. patent for which will be controlled by L. R. King and Robert Barclay. The operation of the digger convinced the spectators that in a soil comparatively free from large rocks the machine would do good work. Mr. King has one or two slight changes to make in the machine which will add to its value as a labor saving invention.

Mrs. J. S. Averill, of Fort Fairfield, had the misfortune on Tuesday of last week to fall down a flight of stairs at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. John Currier. Mrs. Averill was badly injured though no bones were broken. Mr. and Mrs. Averill were intending to start for California in a week or two, and this accident will cause them considerable delay.

Workmen are engaged in clearing the ground and getting it ready for the new passenger and freight depots, which are to be erected immediately, at Caribou. The passenger depot is to be 24x64, with modern improvements, and will be built on the west side of the track. The freight depot will be 20x240 feet, and is to be erected on the same side as, and seventy feet away from, the passenger depot. These buildings are very much needed, and their situation will be such that teams will not be obliged to cross and recross the track every time they go to the station. J. W. Gary has received the contract for furnishing 150,000 feet of lumber to be used in the erection of the new depots.

Starch factories opened for business, Monday.

Supreme Court convenes in Houlton, next Tuesday.

Cumberland.

Messrs. Manning and Morgan, presidents of the Deering and Cumberland Clubs, met at the Portland Argus office, Wednesday night and signed the papers for three races to come off between the clubs. The first race, a single scull, for a $50 prize, two miles and a turn, in smooth water, in Portland harbor, will be rowed October 5th. The second on the same terms, a double scull race, will be rowed October 9th, and the third, a four-oared race, will be rowed on the same terms, October 20th. A deposit of $50 has been left at the Argus office.

Franklin.

Chas. F. Pillsbury, Esq., with his wife and son, of Minneapolis, Minn., are at Kingfield for a visit of several months. Mr. Pillsbury was born in that town and practiced law there several years; he went West sixteen years ago, where he has been engaged in the real estate business and with good success financially. His eyesight is nearly destroyed, and so nearly blind is he that he cannot recognize his former intimate friends.

Quite a little cyclone passed over Farmington, Wednesday afternoon of last week, says the Chronicle. Rain fell in torrents, accompanied for a time with hail, and the wind blew a tornado. No great damage was done here, but at North Chesterville, we are informed, it was great. The cyclone there appeared to travel in a track about two miles wide, crossing from Benn's Corner into the north of Chesterville. On the farm of J. F. Niles his sugar orchard was badly damaged, great maples were turned out by the roots, and in his woodland trees were twisted off in great quantities. A portion of the roof of Jonah Vaughan's barn was carried away. A sheep barn belonging to Mr. Nathaniel Whittier, near Crowell's pond, was struck by lightning and entirely demolished; the main barn to which it was attached, was also somewhat injured but fortunately the lightning did not set fire to anything. The magnificent apple orchard of Mr. Phineas Whittier, on Blabon Hill, was stripped of a large portion of its crop, over five hundred bushels being taken from the trees more quickly and far more rudely than hands would do it. The farm of the late J. B. Lowell was likewise the scene of some havoc to fruit and forest trees. A noble elm at Knowlton's Corner, four feet through, was twisted completely off, and much other damage done. There was no hail, however, at that place.

Hancock.

Mr. Geo. S. Coleman, of Augusta, has removed to Readfield, where he will engage in the poultry business, having bought the "Nonesuch Poultry Yards" of Dr. G. M. Twitchell, the well-known Plymouth Rock breeder.

A serious accident occurred Wednesday in Augusta, which resulted in the loss of a valuable horse belonging to Mr. Jewett of Alna. Mr. Jewett came to the city with a span, in a light express wagon. The animals were hitched in the rear of the State House, while Mr. Jewett was in the building. During his absence they became frightened at something, and breaking away ran in the direction of State street. At the corner of State and Capital streets, near the residence of Mr. Blaine, they attempted to pass between the lamp post and the hydrant, but slipped on the concrete walk. One of them fell against the spikes of the hydrant and was frightfully mangled. The other was thrown against the fence but escaped uninjured. The wounds of the injured horse were too severe to allow any hopes of his recovery and officer Breen put an end to his suffering by shooting him. The animal was a beautiful bay for which the owner only a short time ago, refused a very liberal offer. A broken pole and cross bar was the extent of the injury to the wagon.

Lincoln.

State Superintendent of Schools Luce reports the annual teachers' convention for Lincoln county, which was recently held at Waldoboro, to have been one of the most successful ever held in the State. Two hundred teachers were in attendance. Places were found in town by the executive committee for one hundred and sixty visitors, and others secured accommodations at the hotels. The meetings were admirably conducted and great interest shown in the lines of work considered. The session lasted two days.

Piscataquis.

The reunion of the Piscataquis G. A. R. Veterans is postponed to Oct. 4th, 5th and 6th. If the weather is unfavorable the reunion will be held in the hall. This postponement is made on account of the session of the S. J. Court in Dover, as many of the boys will be obliged to attend Court.

Arthur Sawyer, of Greenville, has invented a new water wheel which he has put into the Eveleth mill. He has been some time in perfecting the arrangement, and thinks it will be a fine thing.

Miss Mattie Keene, of Atkinson, was thrown from her carriage last Sunday, and very severely injured striking on her head and face. She was unconscious for some time.

Somerset.

Some weeks ago a Fairfield girl of fifteen, eloped with one George Williams and was soon after heard of as stopping in the eastern part of New Brunswick. A few days ago her family received a letter from the girl in which she stated that Williams had deserted her and that she was alone without money. Funds were remitted and the erring girl has returned home with a stock of experience that must prove valuable.

The Madison Bulletin hears of the murder in an Oregon town of James N. Brackett, a native of Starks. He was shot by a bar-keeper without provocation on his part. Geo. O. Brackett, of Mt. Vernon, and another brother left immediately on receipt of the sad news, intending to attend the funeral.

Waldo.

Mr. Daniel Lane has presented Mr. Wm. B. Swan, of Belfast, with a white feather plume worn by him in 1835 when a member of the Belfast Light Infantry, one of the old militia companies. Benj. B. Swan, a brother of William B., was captain of the company. Capt. Swan now lives at Natchez, Miss., and the plume will be sent to him as a souvenir of other days.

The new shoe factory in Belfast is now employing ten men, and the prospects of success are flattering.

Maud L., owned by H. E. Hayley, Monroe, showed herself to be a wonderful horse. She trotted a race each day of the fair except Tuesday, winning money in each, $320 in all, got a record of 2.30, and took the free for all race, beating the fast trotter, Stargazer. She trotted thirteen heats during the three days, winning the last three in fast time.

Charles Mahoney, of Northport, who is employed at the quarry where the stone for the water works dam is being got out, was struck on the head by a large rock that was thrown out by a blast the other day, making a severe cut, which was attended to by a physician. It was a fortunate escape from a much more serious if not fatal injury. Mr. Mahone and the other workmen had gone to such a distance that they thought there could be no danger from the blast.

Three cats were sent by express from Belfast Monday last, two to Boston and one to Cleveland, Ohio. A card on the box containing the latter pussy said, "Please give me some milk or fish, for I am hungry." A bottle of milk was in the box, and the latter had a lid on its cover so that it could be opened. It is to be hoped that the request on the card was complied with. Belfast is famous for its coon or Angora cats, and many are sent from there to quite distant points, high prices being paid for some of them.

Washington.

We have noticed for some time past a pair of handsomely matched bay horses in our streets, owned by Mr. M. Cone, who keeps a livery stable. We understand he sold them a few days ago for $600, to go West. Calais is becoming quite noted for fine horses. Everybody seems to own one or more, says the Advertiser.

Mr. Samuel Rideout has finished his job of taking down the old Custom House at Eastport, and clearing off the debris. He has been at work upon it twelve weeks. The contract price for the job was $2,300.

Lewis Wilson, Esq., we regret to learn, says the Calais Advertiser, is quite sick. Mr. Wilson is about the oldest resident of Calais, living. He was eighty-seven years of age the twenty-fifth day of August, last. We believe he is the only man living of the number of men who organized the Congregational church in this city, of whom he has been a firm and consistent member always.

Last Thursday noon, while Mr. Tindell's new yacht, the Edith, was lying at anchor off Leavitt's wharf, Eastport, and the man in charge was ashore at dinner, some miscreant smashed one of the ground glass windows in the skylight over the cabin. The glass was a quarter of an inch thick and protected by brass rods. A reward of $10 will be paid by the owner for information that will lead to the discovery of the culprit.

Mr. Neill Doherty, living at Kendalls Head, lost a fine young horse one day last week, that was valued at above $200. The animal got loose in the stable and ate a large quantity of corn, soon after which he drank heartily, causing, as it is supposed, his death.

York.

Bruneau & Co., the firm consisting of A. M. Bruneau and George Leveque, have opened a sausage factory in Biddeford, where they make American and bologna sausages and press ham. They use nothing but clear meat in their manufacture, and turn out all the way from one hundred and fifty to three hundred pounds of sausage a day.

David T. Moulton, who lives up on the Shedagee road in Saco, has made a nice little record this year on apples, for an off year. Since the first of August he has picked and sold one hundred and thirty-one bushels of Red Astrachans, Early Harvest, Twenty Ounce Pippins and Fameuse apples. His orchard contains ninety trees from which he expects to gather something like sixty more bushels for winter use.

Mrs. Albert Hooper, of Boston, who formerly resided in Saco, and is a daughter of John Ward, of Biddeford, has settled the question as to whether Frank McNeely, the young defaulter, went from this city to Boston, or went East. On the Tuesday morning after he fled, Mrs. Hooper was on Tremont street in Boston, and was about to step from the walk onto the street to board a horse car, when she met McNeely face to face and recognized him. When she got home she told her husband that she had seen Frank McNeely in the street. That, of course, was before she heard of the robbery, and when the next day the news of McNeely's crime reached her, she recalled the circumstance. This story comes from Mrs. Hooper herself and is positive evidence that McNeely was in Boston on that Tuesday.

Lincoln Letter.

[Regular Correspondence Whig and Courier.]

George Kimball has commenced to live in his new house on Church street.

Mrs. Garry has moved into William Noyes' house, which he is rapidly completing.

Mr. Young, of Springfield, with his family are nicely settled in the tenement over W. C. Clark's law office.

Mr. Sinclair, wife and son are at the Lincoln House. Mr. Sinclair is recovering from quite a severe illness.

Arthur Brown, of Gardiner, has finished his visit with W. S. Sawyer's family, and has gone home.

Miss Lena Soule, Mrs. A. L. Whittier and children have gone to Oldtown.

Charles Webber and family and Dr. Harvey Jewell, of Bangor, returned home this week. They came by team. They fished successfully.

Michael Drew, of Pugets Sound, visited his brother, James Drew, of this place. He came a long distance to see his relatives, and left, it is said, substantial tokens of his wealth.

Mrs. A. J. Britton, who has been visiting with her daughter, Mrs. A. L. Mathews, has gone to visit another daughter, Mrs. C. H. Kingston, at Vanceboro.

Mrs. J. A. Grimmer, of St. Stephen, Miss A. L. Britton and Miss Gussie Harrison, still remain with Mrs. Mathews. Miss Britton is taking a well earned vacation from her duties in the St. Stephens office, she being an experienced telegraph operator there.

The Congregational Society held a full and profitable circle with Robert Balentyne's family, on Thursday afternoon.

Our Academy school, so long in a dying condition, now takes a new lease of life. The teachers are giving excellent satisfaction and the scholars are doing splendidly. Town schools in good condition and well supported.

That it is quite the thing to drive to Aroostook, either with your own, or a hired team, is shown by parties passing through here every few days. Among those the past week were: Edward McGoon and wife, formerly of Medway, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Clapp, of South Weymouth, Mass., A. Ames, wife and child, of Oldtown.

Sylvia Stanislaus, son Francis and daughter Emma, returned this week from Rye Beach, N. H., where she has spent this, and each summer for the past nineteen years. She is the wife of Ex-Governor Stephen Stanislaus, who has gone as one of the guides to Katahdin—Governor Joe Francis, Lieutenant Governor Francis Socalexis, being the other two guides for the party who went through Lincoln to climb Katahdin.

Rheuema Bruce and child are visiting in Portland.

Mrs. C. W. Porter has gone to Fredericton, N. B.

Will Garrie, wife and child, of Pennsylvania, have come to Lincoln to stay. He has work in the tannery here.

James M. Jameson, wife and child, and Horton Bond and wife, have returned from the State Fair. Mrs. Fullen and children stop over in Bangor for a few days.

Mrs. E. A. Dutell made a short visit here this week. She was formerly Victoria Lebrick. Her husband clerks for the firm of Dinsmore & Son, Waterville.

Mrs. Daniel Dearborn and daughter, of Bridgewater Center, and Mrs. Alexander Y. Bolton, of Brewer Village, arrived this morning for a visit.

There is talk about a shoe factory, I suppose there will be no factory unless there is first talk.

Mr. Shurtleff closed his labors with the Congregational society here with the last Sabbath. Mr. Ernest W. Shurtleff is the second son of Ashabel M. Shurtleff, of firm of Codman & Shurtleff, Boston, Mass.; is in the last year of his theological course at Andover seminary. His labors have been outside his pulpit, mostly with the young, the sick—and those specially afflicted. He seems fitted for his vocation by his very nature which is tender, sympathizing and full of poetry and sentiment. His collection of beautiful poems, written while much younger, would be a credit to his maturer age. His musical talent is very finely cultivated. Forty small misses belonging to the Sabbath school gave him a surprise party at his boarding place, when they presented him with a gold ring bearing on the inside this inscription, "From the children, Sept 6th, 1887." Mr. Shurtleff preached for his final discourse from Second Corinthians, 4th—18th, and Deuteronomy 32d—2d. In the evening the Sunday school gave a concert which was so largely attended as to fill the house, and the galleries which are seldom used. At the close, Mr. Shurtleff objected to saddening the hour by any goodbys. Our lives must all be better for his having been among us.

The Williams family gave two of the most enjoyable concerts ever given in Lincoln.

Telegrams have reached Lincoln announcing the sickness and death, in Minneapolis, Minn., of Sarah Sanborn Chadburne, widow of the late Gardiner Chadburne, of Lincoln, Me.

A Mugwump Scored.

The N. Y. World comes back at the Boston Herald with a tremendous "facer" for its intimation that the World had become an "administration paper" at the price of obtaining an interview with the President. This mercenary, Mugwump idea of "independent journalism" is scathingly rebuked by the World in a double leaded article that will be mighty interesting reading in the Herald office. The World says:

This is so obvious an absurdity that we cannot suppose that our esteemed Mugwump contemporary believed what it said. We are quite certain Mr. Cleveland does not believe it. The intimation, in fact, is insulting to the honor and character of the President. We think more highly of the occupant of the White House than his sycophantic supporters appear to do, inasmuch as we believe him to be incapable of entering into a bargain with a newspaper by the terms of which he was to give it an interview in exchange for its suppression of its convictions.

The World will continue to be, in the way that it has always justly been, an "opposition" journal. It will never be an Administration or any other kind of an "organ," this term, next nor any other term.

The Republicans at Saratoga.

[New York Tribune.]

It was a level-headed convention. Its character and tone will delight our party friends and depress the Democracy. There were no signs of factionalism; unmistakable proofs were furnished of Republican unity and harmony. Mr. Evarts, Mr. Hiscock, Mr. Miller and the other leaders worked shoulder to shoulder. If there was any delegate on hand whose animating purpose was not unselfishly to conserve the best interests of the entire party, he failed to make himself known.

The choice of both temporary and permanent presiding officers was excellent. The selection of Seth Low will be peculiarly gratifying to young Republicans, while the presence of Warner Miller in the chair served to destroy a large quantity of "Republican dissension" ammunition which Democratic organs had carefully manufactured for service in the campaign. The addresses of these gentlemen were characterized by earnestness, directness and ardent devotion to Republican principles. In its selection of candidates the delegates doubtless responded to the wishes of the majority of those for whom they acted. Weeks ago a strong sentiment was developed in favor of Colonel Grant for the head of the ticket. The fact that he is the son of the great General naturally commended him to the affectionate regard of Republicans, while even his political opponents will admit that the Colonel is fitted for the position for which he has been named alike by character and capacity. Governor Hill, the official head of the Democratic party of New York, last winter singled him out for political preferment and referred to him in a public message as one of those who were "honest and competent" and possessed of "the confidence of the people without distinction of party." It is seldom that a candidate commands such an indorsement at the hands of a leading opponent who is nothing if not an ultra partisan. In the circumstances it would be an act alike graceful and consistent for the Democratic Convention to make the Republican candidate for Secretary of State its own.

The candidates who are associated with Colonel Grant are strong and popular. Mr. Lamoreaux has an excellent record as County Judge and could not fail to make a trustworthy and efficient Controller. Mr. Carmichael has had the special training which goes to the making of a well-equipped State Treasurer. He is now serving his second term as Treasurer of the City of Buffalo, and his fitness for the position is attested by the fact that he was re-elected by one of the largest majorities ever given a candidate in that city. The nomination of Mr. Dennison for Attorney-General ought to commend itself to all genuine Civil Service Reformers. He has already rendered the State good and faithful service as Deputy Attorney-General and thus has earned the promotion. Mr. Cornell's conceded ability and long experience in his profession amply qualify him for the discharge of the duties of State Engineer.

The platform upon which those worthy nominees stand is composed of good, sound planks. The resolutions speak with no uncertain sound. The affirmation of cardinal Republican doctrine is clear and distinct, notably in regard to protection, civil service reform and the temperance question. On these points, as on the others, the Republicans of New York express themselves with the earnestness and vigor born of patriotic conviction. The arraignment of Democratic maladministration, State and National, is as severe as it is just. The issue growing out of the record of the two parties in the last Legislature are fairly and forcibly presented, and the Republican position is stated with emphasis and candor. The platform, like the nominations, meets the best expectations.

It is only necessary that the campaign should be as skilfully conducted as the convention was to win a Republican victory. The delegates have done their duty. Now let the Republican masses whom they represented do theirs.

Cleveland's Tariff Bill.

[From the Irish World.]

The Irish World has it on the very best authority, from Washington direct, that the Administration free trade bill to be submitted to Congress in December has been agreed upon, and that the main features will be the placing of wool, iron ore, and other products on the free list. Perhaps it is well it is so. In a little while, then, the issue will be clearly enough defined to leave no doubts in the minds of men as to what they should do. Verily, we are fast drawing to that stage in the affairs of the discussion when the reminder is given to trimmers:

"There's a time for disappearing;
Take a header—down you go."

It is probable that we are almost within range of the battle that is to decide the tariff question for a generation, and the conclusion of Mr. Cleveland to bring forward this bill with its free trade provisions clear cut is one thing that the Protectionists of both parties have to be thankful to him for.

Chat with Congressman Bayne.

[Wash. Cor. Boston Traveller.]

Congressman Bayne, of Pennsylvania, is here. In response to a question he said: "The Republicans of Pennsylvania are in favor of Mr. Blaine for the Presidency. Mr. Blaine will probably be the nominee of the Republican party next year, and I have no doubt at all that the Democrats will renominate Mr. Cleveland. It will probably be the old fight over again, Blaine and Cleveland. The workingmen of the cities are not satisfied with this Administration. It has not done enough to please them. What has been done by the Executive and by Congress in the way of refusing to make any more grants of lands to railroads and other monopolies, was in the revoking of grants previously made, and is satisfactory as far as it goes. But nothing has been done, for instance, toward restricting immigration, and the workingmen are urgently demanding some restrictions of that kind. Then, again, the workingmen want protection for the native industries, which the free trade tendencies of this Administration want to break down."

Blaine Far in the Lead.

SARATOGA DELEGATES STRONG FOR HIM.

[By telegraph to the Tribune.]

SARATOGA, Sept. 14. There was considerable quiet talk among the delegates to the Republican State Convention to-day about the contest for the Presidency in 1888. There was a general agreement of opinion that Cleveland would be the Democratic candidate. Who should be the Republican? A canvass to determine the answer to this question made by several delegates among their fellows showed that James G. Blaine was the favorite candidate. So far ahead was Mr. Blaine in this competition of possible candidates that for a time it seemed to the canvassers as if they would not be able to discover any rivals. It was said of the America in her contest with the British yachts that she was first and there was no second. Mr. Blaine was first and it took a long range telescope to discover a second. Senators Evarts and Hiscock, ex-Senators Miller and Platt, and ex-Governor Cornell said that they preferred not to disclose their choice. Others of the delegates hid their secret choice behind the phrase, "I am for the nominee of the convention."

Still most of the delegates frankly expressed their preference for Mr. Blaine. William H. Robertson, of Katonah, former Collector of the Port of New York, said:

"I am not in the habit of expressing my preferences for Presidential candidates in advance of the nomination, but still I will say that I am heartily in favor of the nomination of Mr. Blaine. Nothing in my opinion could defeat Mr. Blaine's carrying the State of New York. Every laborer, almost, that you meet says when you ask his choice for President that he wishes to vote for Mr. Blaine. The Republicans of Westchester County, where I live, strongly favor Mr. Blaine's nomination. I think the Prohibition vote will go up to 50,000 and that Henry George as the Labor candidate will receive 100,000 votes. If the election were held now Mr. George would certainly poll 100,000 votes."

Mrs. Langtry has "imported" four grooms, a footman, a coachman and two lady's maids from London for her menage in Stuyvesant Square. She says it is not snobbishness, but simply self-defence which has induced her to "bring out" English servants. A lady's maid here asks $25 to $30 a month, as much as Mrs. Langtry pays her own accomplished and skilled importation in pounds a year. But how long does Mrs. Langtry expect her lady's maid will be content with these English wages in this double-barrelled country? Just about as long as she can turn round and hear what other people's servants say on the subject.—Boston Herald.

So our free trade contemporary has discovered that better wages are paid in this "double-barrelled country."

A New York despatch to the Boston Herald says that the owners of the Thistle stated to the dry dock officials that her draught is fourteen feet and a half. The correspondent says:

"This means a lower centre of gravity than it was ever supposed she had, and 18 inches more than Capt. Barr stated she drew three weeks ago. Her centre of gravity is four feet lower than the Volunteer's, as the latter sloop draws 10 feet without centreboard. The effect of this information is to confirm the impression that the Thistle is a vessel of great power and speed."

New Books.

"THE MASQUE OF MINSTRELS" and other pieces chiefly in verse, by Two Brothers, is a very attractive volume of 360 pages containing prose and poetical writings by Rev. Arthur J. Lockhart, of East Corinth, and his brother, Burton W. Lockhart, now of Suffield, Conn. The Masque of Minstrels, a spirited dialogue in prose, is followed by the poem Alice Lee which touchingly portrays the effect of an unconquered sorrow upon an aimless life. The other numbers embrace an interesting variety of subjects many of which are treated with a rare grace of thought and beauty of diction. The volume is very handsomely printed by Benjamin A. Burr and is issued from D. Bugbee & Co.'s in a neat binding of maroon and gilt. An edition of one thousand volumes has been issued and the price is $125 per copy.

A Magnificent Parade.

Thirty Thousand Men in Line

Led by the Gallant Sheridan.

The Procession Reviewed by the President.

The Maine Boys Make a Fine Appearance.

Great Enthusiasm Along the Route.

Several Brilliant Receptions.

[Special to the Whig and Courier.]

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 16. The Maine Battalions marched and appeared as well as any in line. The bearing and conduct of officers and men has been complimented in all directions.

The Review.

[To Associated Press.]

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 16. Nearly 20,000 uniformed soldiers passed in review to-day before the Chief Magistrate and high officers of this and other governments and at its head rode Gen. Phil Sheridan. At least half a million strangers are in the city to-day and this vast throng in addition to the million inhabitants witnessed the procession. Every street through which the column passed was almost a solid mass of tricolored bunting and flags. The members of commercial, stock, drug, grocers and importers, maritime, petroleum, lumberman's texile and wool exchanges and board of trade assembled in the large hall on the third floor of the latter's building at 10 A. M., and were addressed briefly by who was enthusiastically cheered. Mr. Cleveland, in the course of his address, said: The thought has sometimes occurred to me that in the hurry and rush of business there might well be infused a little more patriotism than we are want to see, and a little more recognition of the fact that a wholesome political sentiment is closely related not only to the general good, but to the general success of business. Of course our citizens engaged in business are quick to see the bearing of any policy which the Government may adopt, as it affects their personal success and their accumulation; but I would like to see that broad and patriotic sentiment among them which can see beyond their peculiar, personal interests and which can recognize that the advancement of the entire country is an object for which they may well strive, even sometimes to the diminution of their constantly increasing profits.

Must we always look for the political opinions of our business men precisely where they suppose their immediate pecuniary advantage is found? I know how vain it is to hope for the eradication of selfish motives in all affairs of life but I am reminded that we celebrate to-day a triumph of patriotism over selfishness. Will any one say that the concessions of the Constitution were not well made or that we are not to-day in full enjoyment of blessings resulting from a due regard for all the conflicting interests represented by the different States which were united a hundred years ago? I believe the complete benefits promised to the people by our form of Government can only be secured by the exercise of the same spirit of toleration for each other's rights and interests in which it had its birth. This spirit will prevail when the business men of the country cultivate political thought; when they cease to eschew participation in political action and when such thought and action are guided by better motives than purley selfish and exclusive benefit.

A Short Reception.

After his speech Mr. Cleveland announced himself as being ready to meet the gentlemen present and one by one they walked up the steps of the rostum and grasped his hand and then stood hands with Secretaries Bayard and Fairchild, Ex-President Hayes, Gov. Beaver, Mayor Fitler, A. J. Drexel and Geo. W. Childs, who received with him. After the reception the Presidential party drove to the reviewing stand at Broad street, near Walnut.

A Detailed Account of the Parade.

The President occupied a beautifully carved solid mahogany chair presented for the occasion by a prominent furniture firm. Around him set Messrs. Bayard, Fairchild, Hill and Hayes. Shortly after 11 Mrs. Cleveland appeared on the balcony of the Lafayette Hotel followed by Col. Lamont and wife and two or three guests. She was received with enthusiastic applause. Mrs. Cleveland was dressed in a handsome black silk with white insertions, a beautiful white feather adorning her hat. At 11.20 Gen. Sheridan, mounted on a handsome sorrel horse, came up the street at the head of the vast cavalcade. The military was preceded by a squad of mounted reserves. As he passed the reviewing stand the President arose and tipped his silk hat. Then there was one continuous round of huzzahs. Behind Gen. Sheridan came the city troop of cavalry on prancing steeds. As the cavalry men passed the grand stand each of the companies went through the drilling evolutions with amazing precision.

Admiral Luce Rode at the Head of the column of the naval turnout, preceded by the Marine Band, which, with handsome uniforms, marching in four columns, the entire width of the street, presented an imposing sight. Following was a detachment of marines from the North Atlantic squadron. As they drew up in "company front" in front of the stand they broke into eights. The evolutions were models of precision. The life saving service followed with a pretty display. Gen. Sheridan rode erect, looking neither to the right nor left. As each platoon passed the President the commander gracefully raised his hat and saluted him, receiving in return a bow of recognition from the commander-in-chief. As Gov. Beaver passed thousands of throats opened and sent up a royal cheer for the veteran who left a limb on the field of battle as a tribute to loyalty. Behind came nearly 10,000 Pennsylvania militia in handsome suits, marching to the music of national airs. Gov. Green and Gen. Sewell, of New Jersey, at the head of the New Jersey brigade, were recognized by the crowd and cheered. Gov. Gordon, of Georgia, and staff, were at the head of the Gate City Guards of Atlanta, and received plaudits.

The Foot Guards

Of Hartford, were unanimously decorated the most handsomely uniformed and finest drilled in the parade. They also received a large share of applause, but as between them and the First Regiment of Massachussetts, Boston Cadets, the Governor's body guard, it was difficult to decide as to which excelled in maneuvres. Governor Foraker appeared at the head of the Fourteenth Ohio, and was obliged to keep his head uncovered for a long time, to acknowledge the vociferous cheers of his friends. The end of the parade was occupied by the Grand Army of the Republic. As each Post passed in front of the stand, its comrades gave a salute to the President, which was recognized. The entire parade was the most successful ever seen in modern times. It would seem the height of military perfection was reached by the troops of the various States. Indeed it would be hard to imagine anything more inspiring than 30,000 Uniformed Militiamen,

all headed by regimental bands. The commanders turned face about as they reached the President's stand, and with the cheers of the thousands and sweet strains of music, the throngs were completely enraptured. During the time of passing, the President remained standing with head uncovered, and answered each salute as given. The orders previously issued by the Department Commanders G. A. R., was that only Post Commanders should salute, the men in line to walk facing ahead, but this was not strictly adhered to however, many of the rank and file passed the stand with uncovered heads. When Garfield Post No. 4, of Newark, came up, the front ranks turned "face about" and sent up a rousing cheer for the chief magistrate, which he graciously acknowledged. The cheer was taken up by the crowd to the echo. It was just a quarter to three when the last Grand Army Post passed the stand. After the end of the parade, the

■ First City Troop of Philadelphia Cavalry were drawn up in double column to escort the President party back to the hotel. As the President descended the steps to the street leaning on the arm of ex-Minister Kasson he was greeted with tumultuous applause. Directly behind came Messrs. Bayard and Fairchild and Admiral Luce and staff. When all the party had reached the street they walked almost in the middle of the street to the hotel, preceded and followed by portions of the City Troop. As they walked along there was one continual round of cheering, to which the President responded by removing his hat. An incident that caused no end of comment was the retirement of Mrs. Cleveland from the balcony in front of Hotel Lafayette just before the G. A. R. reached that point and not reappearing during the time they were passing. The parade was strictly in conformity with the programme.

to the President and Mrs. Cleveland at the Academy was the most brilliant thing of the kind ever attempted in the city. Fully 10,000 people found their way into the building before the President grasped the hand of the last comer. Every one was in evening dress. The immense building was beautifully decorated. Mrs. Cleveland had on a beautiful white satin gown with ostrich trimmings. In her hair she wore several clusters of diamonds.

A reception to the military was given in the Union League building to-night and every officer of the army, navy and militia of the city received a card for the reception and nearly every one was present. They were presented to Gens. Sheridan and Schofield and Admiral Luce, after which an informal dinner was served.

The dinner of the Clover Club this evening was eaten at the Bellevue Hotel. Covers were laid for 150. President Hayes, Senator Evarts, Gov. Sawyer, Senator Hawley, Admiral Luce, Hon. John S. Wise, Henry E. Dixey, the comedian, and Justice Harlan, of the Supreme Court, were present.

The Wind Up for the Day.

At 8.30 Col. McClure and William M. Singerly, the committee appointed to conduct the President to the banquet room, appeared with their guest. The entire company rose and sang a verse of "Three Cheers for the Red, White and Blue," which ended with three cheers for the President of the United State. Col. McClure introduced President Cleveland as the first President the Clover Club had had the pleasure to entertain.

President Handy with mock solemnity passed a loving cup to Mr. Cleveland who after receiving it made a brief and happy speech.

As Mr. Cleveland retired the company arose and sang, "Oh, He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

IT IS THE VOLUNTEER.

She Beats the Mayflower

And is Selected to Defend the Cup.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16. The trial race between the Volunteer and Mayflower today was one of the finest ever seen in these waters. There was a fresh, whole sail breeze all day. The Thistle went over the course with them. The Volunteer stood up like a church steeple in the heaviest squalls and carried her great mainsail with no difficulty, although the Mayflower and Thistle experienced considerable trouble and thus proved her superiority to the Mayflower in every kind of sailing over a triangular course. She also drew away from the Thistle at every point where the latter allowed her a chance at comparison. She logged 13 knots per hour at one point and won the race handsomely and easily by two miles, crossing the finish line amid great applause.

Name	Start.	Finish.	Elapsed Time.
Volunteer,	11.11.59	3.32.46 1-5	4.20.49 1-5
Mayflower,	11.14.43	3.51.34 4-5	4.36.51 4-5

The committee selected the Volunteer to sail against the Thistle Sept. 27th and 29th.

The installation services of Rev. H. L. Caulkins, a recent graduate of Newton Theological Seminary, as pastor of the Baptist church occurred at Presque Isle in the Free Will Baptist church last evening. Rev. G. B. Hisley, of this city, delivered the sermon and other Baptist ministers took part.

The Supreme Council, A. A. Scottish Rite, for the Northern Masonic Jurisdiction of the United States, will commence its annual session on Tuesday, the 20th day of September, at 10 o'clock, A. M., at the Free Masons' Hall, in the City of Providence, R. I. Headquarters will be at the Narragansett Hotel.

The friends of Officer Loftus have had made for him at the establishment of Jno. Tebbets & Co. a very handsome gold badge, inscribed on the back side, "presented to Frank Loftus by his friends." The presentation was made last evening. The badge is of the finest workmanship and will be worn by an excellent officer.

E. F. Whitman, M. D., of Somerville, Mass., who was one of the members of the Cecilia Club excursion party, while fishing near Mount Kineo, at the lake, caught 103 trout, white and other lake fish inside of three hours and one-half. It was an excellent catch and shows what sport there is in the lake for fishermen if they will but try their luck there.

General Manager Payson Tucker, of the Maine Central Railroad showed his sympathy by voluntarily supplying special means of conveyance, during the crowded condition of the railroad yesterday, for Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Stewart, from Bar Harbor to this city, with the remains of their grand-daughter, Marie, whose death occurred Wednesday night.

The funeral services of the late W. H. Prescott were held at his residence on Garland street yesterday afternoon. There was a large attendance of friends and acquaintances, and a delegation of Odd Fellows, of which the deceased was a member, was present. The floral offerings were beautiful and tastefully arranged. The services were very impressive.

One of the sailors of the schooner Ellen Perkins which lies at Hincks & Co.'s wharf while engaged in sweeping the house, fell overboard striking the rail on the way. Those who saw him thought he would be drowned and rushed to his assistance, but after a few moments he came up and struck out for the vessel. A rope was thrown him and after he had tied it about his waist he was drawn aboard. It was fortunate for him that he was able to swim.

The funeral services of the late Mrs. L. B. Hanson were held yesterday forenoon at nine o'clock in St. John's Catholic Church, there being a large attendance of the friends and acquaintances of the deceased. Solemn high mass was celebrated by Rev. Father McSweeney, who spoke feelingly of the many excellent qualities of the deceased. The bearers were Edward Conners, John Cassidy, Joseph F. Snow, Charles Ferry, C. S. Pearl, and D. J. Kane. The remains were taken to Mount Pleasant for interment.

THE STATE FAIR. The State Fair trustees met at Lewiston, Thursday. Treasurer Briggs has figured up $21,000 plump as the State Fair receipts, not counting the $1,000 from the State. Railroad tickets due are 10,832 from the Maine Central Railroad; 946 from the Knox & Lincoln; 269 from the Somerset; 1,109 from the Grand Trunk; 24 from the Bangor & Piscataqus; 298 from the Portland & Rochester; 163 from the Portland & Ogdensburg; 111 from Sandy River Railroad; 36 from the Boston & Maine and 8 from the New Brunswick—making a total of 13,796, besides 2,896, from the G. A. R. The trustees will be in session until Monday.

The excursion party including the Directors of the Maine Central Railroad, prominent railroad officials of the Boston and Maine, and others, with their ladies, which went through this city Wednesday on its way to Bar Harbor, returned yesterday forenoon leaving here at about eleven o'clock. The party stopped at Waterville and examined the railroad workshops, thanking which there are no finer in New England, and took dinner at Maranacook. The excursion was a very pleasant one and the trip was well chosen.

OF INTEREST TO WATER SUBSCRIBERS. The water at the Water Works will be shut off to-night at twelve o'clock in order to make a change in the pipe at the works. A piece of the pipe now in use will be removed and replaced by a twenty inch pipe so that a much larger volume of water can be sent from the Water Works. Water takers should be sure and draw all the water they will be likely to need over Sunday, this evening as none can be obtained after twelve o'clock. It is expected that the change in the pipe will be effected by two o'clock to-morrow afternoon but it may take the workmen longer and the necessary preparations should be made for such an occurrence.

A PLEASANT EVENT. There was a pleasant gathering in Brewer yesterday at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Tibbetts. Their neighbors and relatives to the number of about fifty were invited to dine with them at one o'clock. The dinner was served in his thrifty orchard under the apple trees, the trees being propped up to prevent the fruit from interfering with the heads of the visitors. Comfortable seats were arranged upon a half circle, the grass in front being covered with mats. The table, loaded with both hearty and the most delicate food, was arranged in the centre, in the rear of which was arranged very tastefu ly "samples of the products of the farm," handsomely decorated with choice flowers. Deacon Tibbetts is one of Brewer's most skilful farmers. The dinner was given in honor of their relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Tirrell, Mrs. Renshaw, and their families, who have been spending several weeks with them, and intend to leave for their homes in Washington, D. C., in the early part of next week. The party was most hospitably and happily entertained and all the the arrangements were well planned for passing a few social hours. The occasion will be happily remembered by those present for a long time.

THE BLAZING METEOR.

Rumors of Its Fall at Vanceboro and McAdam Junction.

Thursday evening about eight o'clock many persons in this city noticed in the eastern heavens a large, glowing meteor rushing through space with great velocity, it being visible but a few seconds. A brilliant line of flame was left behind it, and it was one of the sights which are rarely witnessed. There was much speculation as to its probable destination, and those who saw it thought that it could not have fallen at any great distance.

The whole talk yesterday was about the meteor and all sorts of stories were afloat about it, some saying that it had fallen at Vanceboro and that it was as large as the Penobscot Exchange, others that it was as large as a railroad box car, and a very small minority reluctantly acknowledging that they were satisfied with half a box car for the size. Still others, who said that they had seen those who stated that they had seen persons who had seen it, reported that it had gone plump into the ground at McAdam Junction near the railroad station and, while most of it was buried in the earth a large part remained in sight, red hot, and scorching those who went within one hundred feet of it.

Visions of excursions to the scene and of the long line of scientists who would be brought here by the wonderful sight, filled the air, and it was suggested that a building would probably be at once erected over the meteor and an admission fee charged to see it.

Inquiry of the train men and others who had been over the road by the way of McAdam Junction and Vanceboro failed to substantiate the story of any meteor at those places, and there is probably nothing in it. Information from Vanceboro states that the last seen of it the meteor was making tracks for the Bay of Fundy.

PENOBSCOT COUNTY FAIR.

A Most Successful Exhibition at East Eddington.

The Penobscot County Cattle Show and Fair, which closed its annual exhibition at East Eddington Thursday afternoon at five o'clock, was one of the best ever held by the society, every department being well supplied with all the various products of the farm, garden and the household. Upon the grounds were to be seen fair specimens of Penobscot county farm stock. None of the animals had been especially cared for and fed for agricultural shows and no deceptions were practiced, it being simply a show of what can be done with average feed and care, and the large number of farmers present during the two days appeared to be well satisfied with the exhibit. The horses and colts, many of them being of superior merit, attracted much attention.

In the hall the display or vegetables was not only large in quantity but excellent in quality, the show of pumpkins and squashes being the largest and best ever made in this county. The household fabrics bore evidence of a vast improvement in quality and taste in design over former exhibits, and although the hall is one of the largest in the county many articles of merit were not so advantageously displayed as their merits deserved.

The two premiums offered Granges for the best display of farm products and household goods, brought to the front Pine Grove, Brewer, and Hampden Grange, Hampden. Pine Grove occupied a table extending the whole length of the hall and if they left anything at home of value in the line of goods called for, they must be wonderfully blessed beyond an ordinary industrial community. They captured the first prize.

The Hampden Grange, being situated six miles farther off, but a very few of its members could take part. One or two of their enterprising members, however, loaded up a team and sent their articles, in the care of Mr. G. N. Holland and he displayed them to the best advantage, filling a large table handsomely, with not an inferior article upon it.

Among the pictures were fine specimens of pencil pictures executed by Mr. Holland in his younger days. Mr. Holland manifested much pleasure in carrying to his Grange the second prize, as it was all he contended for under the circumstances.

Although the weather the first day was very threatening and forbidding, the second was beautiful enough to fully compensate, and nearly a thousand people appeared upon the ground, and to all appearances passed a happy day of recreation, with social enjoyment.

The officers of the Penobscot Society feel under great obligations to the Eddington Farmers' Club for rendering every assistance in their power to make the show a success. The ladies of East Eddington were also untiring in their efforts to make the hall attractive and the visitors happy, in short if there are any fault finders in town they did not put in an appearance.

The list of premiums as awarded will be published in Monday's WHIG.

AMUSEMENTS.

New Orleans Minstrels.

Minstrelsy will occupy the Opera House stage to-night, when Gorton's New Orleans Minstrels will appear in a programme of music and specialties. A large house will doubtless be present. The band will give a street parade after the arrival of the Boston steamer, and will play in front of the Opera House this evening at seven o'clock.

A Bunch of Keys.

This amusing farce comedy will be seen at the Opera House next Monday and Tuesday evenings, and the sale of seats is now progressing. The following is from the Boston Globe:

Charles H. Hoyt's funny piece "A Bunch of Keys," was presented by the Sparks Company at the Park Theatre last evening. A large audience was present, and the applause manifested indicates that the piece still has a strong hold on public favor. Marietta Nash, as Teddy Keys, the wild rosebud of a thorny family, made a hit. She was repeatedly encored after her songs, and her impersonation of the drummer, St. Lawrence Jenkins, was of course, one of the features of the programme, while her versatile supporter, James B. Mackie, as Jonas Grimes, fairly convulsed the house. Altogether, "A Bunch of Keys" jingled merrily enough, and the piece is likely to be, as heretofore, an excellent drawing attraction.

The Bright New Star.

"Charlotte Russe," in which that accomplished young actress, Augusta Von Doren is to appear at the Opera House next Wednesday evening, is a comedy of to-day, and deals with some of the gravest errors that afflict the higher class of society. Speculation by men and women of Wall street and its far-reaching social influences are outlined and indicated in the person of Baron Von Dinklespiel, who is no fictitious personage credited from an imaginative brain, but the reflex of a well-known broker from the region of "Bulls and Bears." "Charlotte Russe" is the name of the heroine of the play, and she is the daughter of Mrs. Charles Russe, so that the play is not built around a cupful of the confectioner's art, but is a satirical comedy of New York society. The opening scene is laid in Newport, and stage journeys are made to Mauch Chunk, Pa., and to Murray Hill, New York. Miss Van Doren does not like a one-part play, and she has surrounded herself with a competent company, rightly believing that theatre-goers prefer to see a play well presented in all its parts. In "Charlotte Russe" there has been an attempt to satirize the sin of speculation in a good-natured way, and to point a moral as well as to adorn a tale. The sorrows and mishaps entailed by Mrs. Russe's rashness in attempting to "corner wheat," and Miss Marion Hostetter's endeavor to control the Western mines, are the natural consequences of the prevalent ladies' folly and the speculative feverishness of the age.

Notes.

The only original Pat Rooney will be at the Opera House on Friday and Saturday of next week.

F. J. Brinkhourst and wife, (Lillian La Rose) last summer with the Bangor Opera Company, have engaged for this season with the "Cold Day" Company.

Cecilia Club Excursion.

The Cecilia Club excursion which took place Thursday and yesterday to Moosehead Lake was a most successful affair and one of the most delightful of the season. There were eighty-seven excursionists in the party, including five from Orono and eleven from Belfast. The excursion left here Thursday morning and arrived at Mt. Kineo early in the afternoon after a pleasant sail up the Lake. Dinner was taken at the Kineo House, it being served in Landlord Dennen's usual elegant manner. After dinner a sail was taken around the lake to North Bay, under the cliff, the steamer being at the disposal of the party and returning in time for a short rest before tea.

At eight o'clock a concert was given in the concert room of the hotel and the following was the programme: Transcription from Tannhauser, by Orchestra; song, "Hunting Four Leaf Clover," Miss Annie Semple; violin solo, "Scene de Ballet," Mr. M. H. Andrews; song, "Children's Home," Mrs. Wasgatt; piano solo, "Two Larks," Miss Gurlnud; song, "It was a Dream," Mr. J. C. Bartlett; cornet solo, "Father Land." Mr. R. B. Hall; song, "Somewhere." Mr. J. C. Bartlett.

The different selections on the concert programme were greatly enjoyed by their hearers, they being rendered in the well known finished and pleasing manner of the artists who took part. The concert was followed by dancing, which proved a source of much pleasure and amusement. Excellent music was furnished by the hotel orchestra. Early yesterday morning a number of the excursionists visited Pebbly Beach.

After breakfast there were canoeing, and rambling about, while many remained quietly on the hotel verandah enjoying the beauties of the lake and mountain scenery. The boat was taken for Greenville at 11.30, and a jolly picnic dinner was taken aboard, it being provided by mine host Dennen, who won the golden opinions of all for the courteous and liberal treatment extended the party, the members of which had expressed their appreciation of his hospitalities before leaving the hotel. The party arrived in this city last evening at 6.30 o'clock, after one of the most thoroughly enjoyable excursions of the season, and those who went will all agree that no better place can be found for an excursion than Moosehead Lake.

Either the man made a mistake in taking his position, or the animal swerved from his course after beginning his charge, for the captain was struck under the chin by one of the bull's horns and died in a few moments.

From a report made by insurance experts, it appears that 3,956 buildings were damaged by the earthquake at Charleston. The Relief Committee distributed about $60,000, which repaired in whole or in part 2,200 buildings, leaving 4,756 that were repaired by the owners at their own cost. The average allowed by the committee for each building was $270.

Forty-five years ago there wasn't a postage stamp in the United States, says the Buffalo Courier; but in the last twelve months the people of this country have individually and severally put their tongues out 1,968,341,000 times to moisten the postage stamps for the billions of letters and millions of newspapers, periodicals and parcels that are carried and delivered by the Government.

J. O. Rudene, a Washington Territory farmer, owned a Holstein bull worth $500, which was a little inclined to be cross. It got into the yard one day last week, and Mr. Rudene, intending to frighten the animal, loaded up his shot gun with an extra charge of powder and a large wad of paper. Then planting himself squarely in front of his bullship, he let drive at short range. When the smoke of battle cleared away the bull was lying on the ground as dead as Julius Cæsar.

There are 400 Mormon Bishops in Utah, 2,423 priests, 2,947 teachers and 6,854 deacons. Salt Lake City is divided into wards of eight or nine blocks each, and a bishop is put in charge of each ward. Under him there are two teachers, whose business it is to learn the employment and income of every resident of the ward and report the same to the bishop. Then the bishop collects the tenth of each man's income and turns it into the church authorities.

Two new fodder plants have been discovered in Finney county, Kan. One is called the "branching dourra," and is much the same in appearance as the "rice corn" with which most Kansas farmers are familiar. The other is the "teosinte grass," but looks more like corn than grass. It comes from a small seed no larger than a turnip seed. It is stated that the stalks or leaves from a single seed of it furnish feed enough for two cows twenty-four hours.

The Hamilton Literary Monthly, published by the senior class of Hamilton College, offers a prize of $100 to the writer of the best essay on the subject, "The Conservatism of American Institutions." Each essay must be signed by a nom de plume and must not be longer than 7,000 words. All competitors must be regular subscribers of the Monthly and must send in their essays before Jan. 20, 1888. The Judges will be Senator Hawley, E. B. Elliot, Ph. D., of Washington, and Congressman James S. Sherman of Utica, N. Y.

A quaint old locomotive has just been assigned to duty by the Illinois Central Railroad Company on the LeRoy & West Lebanon line. It has one pair of drive wheels and two truck wheels, making only four wheels all told under the curious little machine. It weighs, with the tender and all equipments, less than ten tons. Twenty-two years ago it was stored away at Dubuque as useless, but the present rush of business has created a necessity for again pressing it into the service. Some of the old-timers in railroading may remember it as the Vixen.

The other day an enormous flock of sea gulls appeared between the baths and the railroad wharf at Santa Cruz, Cal., and it was soon manifest that the cause of their presence was an enormous school of sardines, which were crowding each other in the water along the beach. Several thrifty fishermen were soon on hand and dragged their nets for an abundant harvest. One haul brought out ten boxes of fish, or 1,000 pounds. The sards were covered with fish stranded by the breakers, and several youngsters were amusing themselves by pelting each other with sardines.

An official return of the number of game of all kinds that have been shot in the Austrian Empire during the last season has just been issued, and the figures certainly show that sportsmen have a fine time of it in the dominions of the Kaiser Francis Joseph, who is himself a perfect nimrod. One million three hundred and eighteen thousand and ninety-eight hares and 1,166,104 partridges head the list. Next come 100,008 pheasants and 89,077 quails, 70,000 stags and roebucks, 60,900 chamois, 55,187 wild ducks, and 25,452 foxes. There were only 2,566 wild boars, 32 bears, and 122 wolves. Upwards of £5,600 pounds was paid in indemnities for damage to the woods and lands that were shot over.

SCROFULOUS, INHERITED AND CONTAGIOUS HUMORS CURED BY CUTICURA.

Through the medium of one of your books received through Mr. Frank T. Wray, Druggist, Apollo, Pa., I became acquainted with your Cuticura Remedies, and take this opportunity to testify to you that their use has permanently cured me of one of the worst cases of blood poisoning, in connection with erysipelas, that I have ever seen, and this after having been pronounced incurable by some of the best physicians in our county. I take great pleasure in forwarding to you this testimonial, unsolicited as it is by you, in order that others suffering from similar maladies may be encouraged to give your Cuticura Remedies a trial.

P. S. WHITLINGER, Leechburg, Pa.

SCROFULOUS ULCERS.

James E. Richardson, Custom House, New Orleans, on oath says: "In 1870 Scrofulous Ulcers broke out on my body until I was a mass of corruption. Everything known to the medical faculty was tried in vain. I became a mere wreck. At times could not lift my hands to my head, could not turn in bed; was in constant pain, and looked upon life as a curse. No relief or cure in ten years. In 1880 I heard of the Cuticura Remedies, used them, and was perfectly cured."

Sworn to before U. S. Com. J. D. CRAWFORD.

ONE OF THE WORST CASES.

We have been selling your Cuticura Remedies for years, and have the first complaint yet to receive from a purchaser. One of the worst cases of Scrofula I ever saw was cured by the use of five bottles of Cuticura Resolvent, Cuticura, and Cuticura Soap. The Soap takes the "cake" here as a medicinal soap.

And Contagious Humors, with Loss of Hair, and Eruptions of the Skin, are positively cured by Cuticura and Cuticura Soap externally, and Cuticura Resolvent internally, when all other medicines fail. Send for Pamphlet.

DRUGGISTS USE THEM.

We have obtained satisfactory results from the use of the Cuticura Remedies in our own family, and recommend them beyond any other remedies for diseases of the skin and blood. The demand for them grows as their merits become known.

Choking Catarrh.

Have you awakened from a disturbed sleep with all the horrible sensations of an assassin clutching your throat and pressing the life-breath from your tightened chest? Have you noticed the languor and debility that succeed the effort to clear your throat and head of this catarrhal matter? What a depressing influence it exerts upon the mind, clouding the memory and filling the head with pains and strange noises! How difficult it is to rid the nasal passages, throat and lungs of this poisonous mucous all can testify who are afflicted with catarrh. How difficult to protect the system against its further progress towards the lungs, liver and kidneys, all physicians will admit. It is a terrible disease, and relies out for relief and cure. The remarkable curative powers, when all other remedies utterly fail, of Sanford's Radical Cure, are attested by thousands who gratefully recommend it to fellow-sufferers. No statement is made regarding it that cannot be substantiated by the most respectable and reliable references.

Each packet contains one bottle of the Radical Cure, one box of Catarrhal Solvent, and an improved Inhaler, with treatise and directions, and is sold by all druggists for $1.00.
